

Seminar on Legal English for Non-legal Engineers

(Organised by IfE, supported by HKLTI)

Successfully Held on 12 October 2018

Trial lawyers are trained with English language skills to persuade people, to communicate arguments and to bring results. In today's business environment, engineers are essentially doing the same in their daily jobs, but merely doing them without a courtroom setting.

The Seminar on “Legal English for Non-legal Engineers” was successfully held on 12 October 2018. The visiting lecturers were Ms. Wendy Yeung, Barrister-at-law & Ms. Claris Kwong, Barrister-at-law.
